THE SHOW GOES ON AT THE CABIN EC

THANKS to two days of mild weather, the event calendar resumed on Sunday, February 7 at The Cabin Equestrian Centre, Keithhall, Inverurie with a mixed unaffiliated showjumping competition. Glad to be back in the saddle after weeks of snow, competitors turned out from across Aberdeenshire to take part. Winner of the day's show points – and a trophy to boot – was Aimee Bell on Kingfisher who won both the 3ft 3" and 3ft 6" classes.

Fiona Quennell, proprietor of The Cabin EC commented:"It was fabulous to see the centre back in action after all the snow. Numbers were good taking into account how the weather has been and I thank everyone for their support.

"We hope we'll see them at our fortnightly unaffiliated showjumping evenings and the next mixed show on Sunday, March 7."

The Wednesday evening fortnightly unaffiliated showjumping competitions are back up and running with a 6pm start and height classes from 2ft through to 3ft, a clear round class taking place from 5.30pm, the next dates being February 10 and 24. In addition, a mixed unaffiliated show will be held on Sunday, March 7 with classes from 2ft to 3ft 6" and a trophy for the show points winner.

Meanwhile for dressage enthusiasts, the next monthly Wednesday evening dressage competition will take place on March 31 with classes for Intro, Prelim and Novice. Plus, showjumping trainer Andrew Hamilton will return to The Cabin on February 16 and 17.

Turning to the Riding School, The Cabin Equestrian Centre is launching ladies lesson and lunch sessions plus a weekly gents only evening, open to both those riding school horses and those wishing to bring their own.
